Truman's Reversal Hardly Important Winner Take All

Coming at a time when Great Britain's labor government is carrying out a policy of bankruptcy and its own economy is slowing down, President Truman's announcement yesterday that the administration has abandoned the road to a "welfare state" is too obvious to be significant.

The high federal command simply did what many a private business house has done before—it made a pretty bad guess. And if it hadn't been for the sturdy opposition of the congress the effect of that guess would have been disastrous.

What Mr. Truman said yesterday was, that the administration is cancelling its request for a tax increase of 4 billion dollars. If congress had gone along with him and granted the increase what we would have on our hands now wouldn't be merely slack business—it would be a full-blown postwar panic.

When men find it suddenly harder to make money, and then have new and drastic taxes hurled upon them—they diver. And when men on the firing line of risk-business give up, values crash and the whole country is shaken.

This is beyond argument, of course, for it lies within our own experience in American history—and it is a tragedy currently being enacted in Great Britain. There, a people living high on credit, suddenly find they are at the end of their rope—not their own personal financial rope, but the main hawser of the ship of state—a terrifying thought for people who have read the great chapters on the bankruptcy and collapse of nations.

So Mr. Truman isn't going along with it, is he? At least not all the way. He has abandoned the idea of higher taxes but he is still committed to the thought that America is justified in deficit spending for a while—that is, appropriating more money than taxes bring in.

He is wrong on that score, too—and on that score congress will no doubt correct him also.

America's tax income is just a shade under the all-time peak reached during the war and immediate postwar years. Without exception business has always declined after a war, and tax income along with it. The amount of tax collections has dropped today may be nothing compared to the decline they will show a year from now.

Therefore it is foolish to try to keep up a bold front—like a gambler with a king-high hand in company where straights and flushes have been commonplace.

The government must reduce expenses—drastically, far beyond what anyone has so far suggested in the congress. Expenses must be reduced now for the deficit of 1949 is merely a prelude to worse deficits to come in 1950.

The nation has no reason to be alarmed, if congress does its duty—cracks down now and sets the federal house in order. If this is done the great step toward postwar adjustment will have been taken, and the U. S. can pick up its progress where fear and uncertainty caused us to put it down.

Some More Pointers on Polio

There is no epidemic of infantile paralysis in Arkansas yet; however, the high number of cases at this early part of the summer is alarmingly high. The U. S. Health Service reports that there are 56 per cent more cases than last year.

The number of cases reported this year over the nation up to last week was 2,309. This is high enough to warrant every precaution Miss Helen Robinson, extension health education specialist has advised Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood.

She offered the following advice for vacationers and week-end holiday travelers:

1. Do not get overtired.

2. Do not plunge into cold water when overheated; avoid sudden chill.

3. Watch the newspapers. If they report cases about getting in crowds washing hands, swimming in polluted water.

4. Inspect tourist cabins and camp sites for too numerous flies.

5. Use care in eating in public places during the polio season. In the past September has been the peak month.

6. Keep your general health as good as possible. This means to eat plenty of the body building foods. Do not overeat and do not eat too many starchy foods and sweets. Water should be pure and boiled if the supply is from an open well. Taking water from an open spring, not properly covered, is a dangerous hazard.

7. Premises should be cleaned up. Weeds should be cut. Garbage should be carefully disposed of. Open toilets should be sprayed.

8. Houses should be well aired. See that tin cans in the community or neighborhood are disposed of properly and flattened before discarded to keep out insects and water.

9. Rat and insect control should be carried on at all times.

Negro Involved in Shooting Arrested

Joe Nathan Harris, Negro who was involved in a shooting scrape here last week, was arrested yesterday at Dumas and returned to Hope for trial. A Negro woman fired 4 shots at Harris whom she claimed was approaching her with an axe.

NEW JET TAKES CAMERA BOW—Here's the first flight picture of the Air Force's new all-weather, jet propelled P-94 night fighter. The plane is a new version of the 600 mph F-80 Shooting Star equipped to fly in pitch black night and under all weather conditions. It differs from the Shooting Star in its extended nose section which has two cockpits—one for the pilot and one for a radar operator.

Unemployment Figures Are Reflecting the Return to a Normal Buyers Market

New York, July 12 — (AP) — Unemployment figures, like everything else, are reflecting the return to a normal buyers' market.

But unemployment, while on the increase recently, still is only slightly above average when viewed in the perspective of the last hundred years.

However, that's small comfort to the 3,778,000 persons pounding the pavements looking for work today. And it is little help to a company paralyzed when its biggest industry shuts down.

But the figures show that, even if the nation maintains a fairly prosperous economy with "full employment" in coming years, we can expect at least an average minimum unemployment of between 3,000,000 and 3,500,000.

That conclusion is based on a study by the Twentieth Century Fund, which found that five per cent of the labor force under normal conditions are looking for work at any given time. The fund's research on current economic problems.

Labor organizations and various federal government economists have predicted a possible rise in unemployment to around 5,000,000. That's above the five per cent line and gets into the emergency zone.

President Truman, in his economic report to congress yesterday, said "there is nothing healthy about more unemployment." He added that "unemployment has not risen to the dangerous levels which would call for all-out emergency measures."

What is the danger line for unemployment?

That question is the core of discussions over unemployment. Although estimates vary widely, it is generally agreed that looking at the total figure for the entire country is misleading in giving a true measure of the personal suffering caused by men and women being out of work.

Family of Girl Sorry for Soldier

Fast Nassau, N. Y., July 12 — (UP) — The family of a girl killed by a corporal guarding a wrecked air force jet fighter said today they hoped authorities "won't do anything to this poor soldier."

The father of the girl, Marion Ann Noreen, 25, of Branford, N. Y., said he was convinced the shooting by Corporal Dallas H. Thompson, 24, of Westover Field, Mass., was an accident.

Thompson was arraigned early today on a charge of second degree manslaughter and held for a grand jury action. Police said he was "near collapse" and had to be given a sedative.

Miss Noreen was shot last night while walking in the vicinity of the wreck with her fiancé, Walter Martin, 26, whom she was married in September, and his step sister, Maud Shaw.

Thompson, one of three guards stationed around the wrecked plane, told police he heard the young people approaching and drew his .45 caliber automatic.

The voice, he said, was coming over a slight ridge, and as he climbed over to investigate, he slipped and the gun discharged accidentally.

Miss Noreen screamed and fell to the ground. A bullet had struck her in the neck.

Corporal Thompson and Martin rushed the girl to the office of Dr. Nathan Schwartz, in East Nassau, where she died within a few minutes. Shots of adrenalin failed to rouse her.

The plane, an F-84 jet fighter flown by Lieutenant Philip W. Dodge, 22, was on a routine flight from Georgia to Stewart field, West Point, N. Y., when it crashed Saturday. Lt. Dodge had radioed the Schenectady airport that he ran out of fuel and was bailing out. His chute did not function properly, authorities said, and he was killed.

Can Expect Summer Diet of Economics

Washington, July 11 — (AP) — Now that the spy cases have been put on ice and unless we run into some unforeseen sensations — we can look forward to a summer diet of economics.

President Truman makes his economic report to congress today. And that is sure to be the cause of jeers and cheers in congress. It always is, every time he makes one.

In fact, the jawing back and forth about it, in and out of congress, will use up a good part of the week, at least. And you will be hearing references to it up into next winter.

As usual, this will leave the public a bit puzzled. The fund will be hearing references to it up into next winter. As usual, this will leave the public a bit puzzled. The fund will be hearing references to it up into next winter.

Any time the economists start flinging their jargon around since, after all, economics isn't a science, and a lot of experts were wrong in 1929, 1932, and 1937.

Meanwhile, we'll have the British economic crisis with us for a good while. It won't be solved in a day or a week. We'll be hearing about that for months, particularly since we'll be involved in whatever the British do.

Then the question of whether the CIO auto workers and the steel workers will go on strike. That decision certainly will have an effect on the economy, which is skidding a bit already.

But that's all. In congress a committee was to begin today an investigation into monopoly in this country. So we'll be hearing about that.

Then we'll have to sit through a debate in congress on renewal of the reciprocal trade agreements act.

This seems certain to get congressional approval, but it is a long haul. Congress is away behind time on this one.

It was supposed to have been renewed before the date of death, June 30 — it had regularly been renewed every two or three years since 1934 — but the senate didn't get around to it.

And when the senate gets through approving the North Atlantic pact — it's working on that now and seems sure to okay it — will then tackle the reciprocal trade renewal — it may take up the problem of voting money for arms for Europe, perhaps $1 billion.

But even if the arms program is considered a done deal this year, it's not at all sure there'll be approval.

So, by and large, you'd better get ready for some heavy reading in economics, not the easiest warm weather reading, even though our lives revolve around it.

Be Sure Vegetables Are Not Too Old to Can

Probably one of the main reasons Hopesteads county home makers find starchy vegetables such as shell beans and peas hard to can is that they are often a little too old for canning.

Lorraine Blackwood, home demonstration agent, advised today. As the vegetables mature the natural sugar in the product slowly down the rate that heat will penetrate.

Peas and beans should be gathered before the pods turn yellow. Remember when selecting corn to pierce the kernels with the thumb nail. The milk should squirt out.

When these vegetables reach the so-called "dough stage" they are too mature for canning. The more mature the product, the more likely that the liquid will be low on the canning product.

Starchy vegetables swell during processing. If you do not leave enough headspace to take care of this expansion, the jar will pack tightly. Always leave one inch headspace in the jar when packing starchy vegetables.

DDT Spraying Takes Care of Pests

With the many Hempstead County homes having dogs or cats as pets it is not uncommon for a blood-sucking pest that bothers human beings.

It is impossible to control fleas until breeding places have been eliminated. If the source is a dog or cat's bed, the animal should be treated for fleas and moved to a new bed.

Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood advised. Then burn the old bed and treat the surrounding soil or floor with DDT or rotenone. Use 5 to 10 per cent DDT dust or 1 per cent rotenone dust.

After the breeding place has been eliminated one thorough treatment should rid the house of fleas. One way to treat is to use the vacuum cleaner thoroughly, beat and rug and upholstery furniture or have them dry-cleaned.

Fleas lay their eggs without leaving the animal on which they are feeding. The eggs drop to the ground or floor and hatch into tiny white worms that feed on animal waste. Fleas may also breed in soil that is dry and protected from rain and sun. This makes a dog's bed under the house an ideal place. Fleas may also breed inside a house in cracks filled with dirt and lint, or in the dog's sleeping place. The immature stage of fleas may be passed in as short a time as two weeks.

Dogs and cats should be kept free of fleas. Searching pets every week or two and treating whenever fleas are found will keep them from harboring the insects, Mrs. Blackwood stated.

DDT or rotenone containing 1 per cent or more of rotenone is a highly effective treatment for fleas on dogs and cats. DDT dust, containing 5 or 10 per cent DDT, is also effective. DDT should be used in a house in cracks filled with dirt and lint, or in the dog's sleeping place. The immature stage of fleas may be passed in as short a time as two weeks.

Congress Hands Possible Boost Out to Business

Washington, July 12 — (AP) — The promise of excise tax cuts in 1950 — along with new cushions against losses — was held out to business today by congress.

This was one of the first tangible reactions as lawmakers surveyed President Truman's 11-point beat-the-depression program.

There was evident agreement that only part of it could be put into effect before a pre-labor day adjournment this year. However, a leading Republican, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts said that he agrees with Mr. Truman that within a few years in country can achieve a national output of $300,000,000,000 a year. This is a fifth more than the present annual rate.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the house ways and means committee joined with Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee in promising relief next year from some of the heavy wartime taxes. These have applied to a long range of items from furs to face powder, and in transportation fares and communications.

President Truman asked for repeal of the excises on freight as one of the measures to keep the economy rolling in high gear and head off a threatened business recession.

But George told a reporter any such move now would cost the government $400,000,000 revenue in a period when Mr. Truman seems to have resigned himself to the demand for any major tax increases.

The finance committee already has cleared a proposal by Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) to knock out a long list on excise taxes at a revenue of $725,000,000. Administration leaders are sitting on this move, despite its support by Senator McGrath of Rhode Island, the Democratic national chairman.

Dirks Men Get Reward for Finding Plane

Leon Garrison and Aubrey Simon of near Dirks last week received $1000 reward money for finding the Elkins plane which was the object of a 4-weeks search in this section last month. The reward money was offered by residents of Stephenville, Texas. The Dirks men discovered the plane and bodies of its two occupants, T. C. Elkins and Ben Ferguson.

A short military service will be held at 4 p.m. at DeAnn Cemetery.

The American Husband Has Become the Eighth Wonder of This Very Modern World

By HAL BOYLE

New York, July 12 — (AP) — The American husband has become the eighth wonder of the modern world.

The other seven are (1) Sophie Tucker, (2) the Berlin airlift, (3) the four-dollar British pound, (4) the Empire State building, (5) Texas and California, (6) Soviet Russia's foreign policy and (7) Joseph Paul DiMaggio, the Yankee clipper.

Like "DiMaggio," the U. S. husband is enjoying one of the greatest comebacks in history.

Time was when he was merely a crass beast of labor responsible only for bringing home the bacon.

The rest of the time he was just an over-stuffed lump of protoplasm that sank into an over-stuffed piece of furniture and gave off annoyed grunts when disturbed.

But all that's changed. Papa's a new man. Mama has to call him "daddy" again now.

She has a hard time keeping up with him. She can't afford to let herself get frowzy and fat. Papa's taken the inner tubes off his midriff, and if she doesn't do like it, why, he puts her on a diet.

He knows what grub has the most vitamins and grows the least blubber. He does out her calories like a miser.

This 1949 husband is a bird of fresh plumage. He's doffed the old uniforms. No longer does he back away from pastel shirts or shy from summer neckties that look like a cross-section of the northern lights. Papa's discovered color and he likes it. He'll dress in first one under the family sunlamp and the last to leave.

Yes, sir, the old man seems to have made up his mind that anything his old lady can do he can do better. He's got mania for taking lessons in interior decoration, and he thumbs through the ladies' magazines looking for new recipes he can amaze the neighbors with.

LOOK, MAW, NO WINGS—If you're like most people who go all out for fried chicken, but leave the wings for the next guy, here's good news for you. Peter Bauman shows one of the new breed of wingless chickens he's developed in the basement of his Des Moines, Iowa, home. More white meat, says Bauman, as he compares the new type, right, with the old-fashioned variety, left.

Key Question Is Whether Red Terror Will Move in on Japan Before Issue Is Death With

By JAMES D. WHITE

AP Foreign News Analyst
(For DeWitt MacKenzie)

As the cold war moves in on the American occupation of Japan, one of the first big problems is this:

Are the Japanese police going to indulge in some good old-fashioned terror before Communist agitation is death with?

It's all very complicated. For instance, one root of the problem is the fact that there are too many people in Japan. This means more workers than jobs. It means too many people working for the government. It means a government afraid to fire them.

This government has a lot of "prewar politicians" in it, like Premier Yoshida. His cabinet and those of earlier postwar premiers, have been told many times to run a more efficient administration.

Last winter occupation officials got specific. They said "balance the budget."

The government stalled. Finally it was told to weed out some of the deadwood among its own employees.

It turned to the bloc of government workers who are most highly organized and under strong influence—the railway and communications workers. If it was looking for trouble, it found it.

It was explained that firing the proposed 100,000 workers actually meant that only 140,000 would lose the payroll. It seems this is an old Japanese custom so that ap propriations for government departments can be kept high.

Naturally there was trouble with the workers, with the Communists egging them on. Right in the middle, Russia suddenly decided to return thousands of Japanese prisoners of war home since V-J.

By now they were thoroughly indoctrinated and many joined in the riots and strikes. They defied the police, among other things, which brings us to the question of day day—the police.

Keeping law and order is hard or now. The Japanese government began talking about reorganizing the police along lines which would induce some of their prewar power, which was plenty.

Premier Yoshida tried to fire one police chief, over whom he had no authority under a postwar law designed to take the police out of politics.

He is thinking about declaring a national state of emergency, under which the police could act with more force. His government is fiddling with plans like "creating a police intelligence service," or another secret police.

Meanwhile, after Gen. MacArthur wondered aloud in public on July 4 whether the police are "ready to take a lateral standing, there is talk of outlawing the party. Some Japanese and occupation officials think this would just drive the Reds underground and make it easier for them to pose as patriots.

The Reds of course claim to be fighting the workers' battle and non-Communist labor unions are caught between the violence of the police and the possible violence to which the police may turn to suppress such activity if they are given the power.

The Reds in Japan are picking up strength as the tension mounts. They also have outside help—from Red China.

The Peiping radio yesterday began broadcasting a long and detailed "background material on the fostering of Japanese aggression forces to American imperialism."

It looks like the occupation of Japan has become a prime Communist target.

14 American Newsmen on Missing Plane

Bombay, India, July 12 — (AP) — A Royal Dutch Airlines Constellation carrying 14 American newsmen and 2 other persons crashed on a rocky hilltop 20 miles north of Bombay this morning. All aboard were reported killed.

The plane crashed in a driving rainstorm while approaching the Santa Cruz airport, 18 miles north of Bombay. It hit a hill near Ghatkopar, on the opposite side of the 30-mile-long island from Santa Cruz.

Search parties reported the wreckage was strewn over a two-mile area some two miles above sea level and that the wreckage was partly charred.

The accident was said to be the worst in India's aviation history. The rain had been coming down incessantly since yesterday and forecasts had predicted it would last at least another two days.

An airline official in New Delhi said the plane carried 20 passengers and 11 crewmen, in addition to the Americans.

The newsmen reported aboard the plane were returning from a tour of Indonesia sponsored by the Dutch government.

Dutch planes had not been allowed to land in India since the conflict between the Dutch government and the Indonesian republic, but a special request from the American newsmen that the restriction be relaxed was approved by Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

The first search plane to reach the wreckage said there was no indication whether anyone had survived the crash.

The plane left Batavia, Java, July 10. The newsmen had been entertained last night in New Delhi by American Ambassador Loy Henderson. They left New Delhi for Santa Cruz early today. The plane was scheduled to arrive in Holland tomorrow.

At the New Delhi reception last night, some newsmen said they were told that the plane was allowed to land in India in order to avoid the long overwater hop to the island of Mauritius.

Murray Set to Flash Strike Order

Pittsburgh, July 12 (AP) — CIO President Philip Murray stood ready today to flash a strike order to 500,000 CIO-United Steelworkers.

Murray said last night he will recommend the strike start this weekend.

His recommendations are expected to be approved quickly by the steelworkers' 170-man wage policy committee. It scheduled a meeting here (9 a. m., Eastern Standard Time) today.

Murray, after a fruitless 2 1/2 hour conference at Washington with Cyrus Watson, federal conciliation director, said contract negotiations with U. S. Steel Corp. and other basic steel producers are "hopelessly deadlocked."

The tight-lipped Scotsman hinted only presidential intervention could avert the walkout.

The Story: Mrs. Malone, a widow who operates the Dude Hamburger Ranch on a main highway, is closing up her place after a successful tourist season. She intends to return to Los Angeles to spend the winter months. Then along the road, comes monster trailer, pulled by a truck and followed by a sedan pulling a smaller trailer. The huge vehicle stops and a woman steps out. She wants to catch the bus back to Los Angeles. As the woman waits the truck driver, a handsome man in his late for-

Her voice rose in a kind of scream. Mrs. Malone said quickly: "I think the bus is coming." She picked up her suitcase. "You'd better be ready. They hate to wait." She felt a certain embarrassment at having witnessed the hysterical outburst. But she was curious, too — very curious. The black-haired driver took a deep puff of his cigaret, dropped it and ground it into the sand with the tip of his polished shoe. The bus was making time. It loomed larger and larger, seeming to drink in the long blue river of red. Mrs. Malone stood firmly planted, waving her winter coat so flapped like a scarecrow's. Then she could hear the brakes beginning to take hold. The engine backfired noisily and the bus slowed to a stop. "One passenger only. You'd better wait for the 'special.' It'll be along in half an hour," the driver called. "Oh, dear," the young woman cried. "I can't wait! I want to get away from here! I've got to!" Mrs. Malone was first in line. It was her privilege to go. But that meant she would never know. "You go ahead," she said. "I'll wait here. I'm in no hurry." "Oh, thank you!" The young woman scrambled into the bus. Mrs. Malone could see the other passengers craning at the windows to get a better view of the monster trailer. Some of them standing up and pointing. But the bus couldn't wait. The door closed and the tires began to turn with a bubbling sound. Rapidly, the bus fled. "That was very nice of you," the uniformed man said. "Why did you do it?" "I thought maybe I'd take the job." Mrs. Malone had not intended to go so far. The sudden impulse stemmed from her dread of being alone. Her husband had been an exciting companion — adventurous, brave and good-natured — and this would be her first winter without him. The thought of the long, idle months ahead, spent as a sort of paying guest in her sister's house, made her reckless and desperate. "What is there in it?" she asked. "For me, I mean? Is this Mrs. Malone's name really crazy?" "Crazy like a fox," the man said. "Come and meet her. You can see for yourself." Mrs. Malone folded her coat and placed it neatly on top of her suitcase. She was aware of an accelerated heartbeat as he followed the driver and waited beside him for the steps to make their mysterious appearance. Then she followed him into the trailer, ducking her head to clear the low doorway. She found herself in a narrow entry, from which a door opened to the left. "Mrs. Everson? I think I've found another cook for you." A first quick glance through the door disclosed a necessarily narrow yet luxurious interior: an impression of silvery walls, hyacinth-blue curtains, sofas or bunks upholstered in gray satin. But Mrs. Malone had no opportunity to observe the details. A woman was sitting tailor-fashion on one of the sofas. Her appearance was so extraordinary that her surroundings seemed unimportant in comparison. She wasn't young, nor was she strictly beautiful. She had, rather, the ageless look achieved by certain famous actresses. Her skin was taut, her contours flawless, her hair abundant and rather dark. She had immense blue eyes and a narrow painted mouth. Her hands were large, the nails lacquered. Here as so often happens, she stood revealed as a woman possibly in her 30's. She wore a black crepe dress fastened by a clip set with diamonds in mounting platinum squares. "How do you do?" she said. Her voice was a deep alto, unexpected in so slight a woman. "Where did you find her, Rudy?" she asked the driver. "Did she drop out of the sky, like a frog in a rainstorm? A cook in the middle of the Mojave! How come?" Mrs. Malone explained quickly. She was not a cook by profession, but she was willing to try, provided, of course, that too much was not expected of her — fancy desserts, for instance, such as pastries. "I understand soups, meats and sauces. They say I make the best coffee in California. That's about all." "It will be enough," Mrs. Everson interrupted. "If you're also willing to learn. What's your name?" "Malone." "The crimson mouth smiled; there was a trace of mockery in the eyes. "My names Margaret. "I'll call you Malone. Mrs. Everson unfolded and stood up. She was not tall, but she gave the impression of height because of her slenderness and the lofty heels she wore. Quenching her cigaret in a crystal dish full of half-smoked stubs and stained with lipstick, she said: "This is the situation. As you see, I'm a traveler, on my way to PARIS—(NEA)—Bathing suit fashions, owe their inspiration to clowns' costumes, sarongs and exercise suits. An "exercise suit" (left) glorified by Pierre Balmain, makes a sensation of a hip-length fringed sweater, shorts, socks and cap of red and white striped jersey. Harlequin's gay clown suit inspired the bold cotton print which Jean Desses uses to make a swim suit and matching sun shade (above) topped by a white pique beach coat. A full tunic-styled skirt of red and white cotton print (right) wraps sarong-fashion around a reverse-color Desses-designed swim suit. —By Rosette Hargrove, NEA Staff Correspondent.

Home Milk Supply Helps Balance Diet

Hempstead County farm families that keep and care for enough milk cows to produce an adequate home milk supply find this one of the most important steps toward an all-round good diet. Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood explains that milk is the most perfect food known, and one that seems to have no satisfactory substitute. A protein food of highest order, it is an excellent source of calcium, and contains many vitamins. Children need one quart of milk in their daily diet and adults at least one pint. Only milk from disease free cows should be used, says the home demonstration agent. To be sure that cows are healthy they must be tested regularly for tuberculosis, bangs and mastitis. Keeping one cow from eating bitterweeds and wild onions is very important in the production of good milk. If milk does not taste good it will probably not be used; therefore all families should give careful attention to the production of good quality milk. The udders and flanks of each cow should be cleaned before they are milked. Seamless milk pails should be used for milking and seamless strainers with filter pads should be used for straining milk.

Ex-Arkansas Educator Succumbs

Lexington, Ky., July 12.—(AP)—A former Arkansas educator died at his home in Lexington yesterday. Dr. William Thomas Rowland, Jr., 53, a native of Arkadelphia, Ark., had been superintendent of Lexington schools for some time. Dr. Rowland was a graduate of Henderson-Brown college, Arkadelphia (now Henderson college) and received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from George Peabody college at Nashville, Tenn. Before going to Lexington, Dr. Rowland had been a faculty member of Henderson college, school superintendent of Marianna and secretary, principal and coach at El Dorado, and a teacher and coach at Van Buren. He is survived by his wife, the former Della Mae Thomas of Fordyce a daughter, Mrs. Robert Settle of Lexington; a brother, John H. ("Bo") Rowland, head coach, George Washington university, and a sister, Mrs. Henry J. Richardson of Washington, D. C. Funeral services were to be held today in Lexington.

For Friends — Roamers — Countrymen —

Quite literally, it's one car in a thousand—999 other cars take the road for every Estate Wagon Buick turns out.

But it's far more than something exclusive, as you'll soon see when one takes its place in your garage.

For those times, for instance, when house guests arrive — what smarter equipage could you send to the station, what greater comfort, what handier way to manage the luggage problem?

And when the Lord and Master yearns for a few days away from it all — what's handier than this nimble gadabout, that lets him fold down a back seat at nightfall and enjoy full-length double-bed sleeping space?

And that place in the country, calling for a car that can go just about everywhere, do just about everything...

That's when you'll go for the ruggedness of this beauty with its steel framing, steel top and springs of durable, service-free coiled steel. That's when you'll go for Dynaflo Drive! too — and the steady, even, fluid pull that takes furrowed fields, rough pastures and narrow back roads with equal, shift-free ease.

In all truth, this is a star of many roles. Smart and sleek, finished like an express cruiser, it's a standout for style in any parking line-up, a family favorite for its quick readiness to take on any transportation job.

It's a buy, too, like all Buicks—and your dealer is offering pleasantly prompt delivery. Why not see him today about the car that both literally and figuratively is one in a thousand?

†Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on Super models.

Liberty Hill
The Relationship of Balanced diets to the health and planning meals to include the Basic Seven Foods were the subject of the discussion, led by Mrs. Irvin Betts, Foods and Nutrition leader, when the Liberty Hill Home demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. A. A. Fuller Tuesday June 14.

At this meeting plans were made for attending Visiting day at the experiment station on July 1. Eight members and one visitor, Mrs. Jewel Shields, were present and answered the roll call by "My favorite vegetable and how to prepare it."

During the social hour, the recreation leader, Mrs. Ivan Williams, had charge of the games played with prizes going to Mrs. A. A. Fuller and Mrs. Grace Huckabee.

Next meeting of the club will be at the home of Mrs. L. E. Huckabee on Tuesday, July 12. The home demonstration agent will give a demonstration on basket weaving.

Hopewell
Hopewell Home Demonstration club members watched an interesting demonstration of preparing frozen foods at the home of Mrs. Vic Thompson, June 22. Mrs. Thompson prepared frozen English peas, spinach, beets and steak. The steak was broiled on sheet aluminum foil. Thereby eliminating a greasy broiler. The relationship of balanced diets to health, and serving eye appealing dishes was discussed by Mrs. Thompson. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. O. B. Hodnett, president, with the club creed repeated in unison. Mrs. Thompson gave the devotional followed by prayer. Nine members answered roll call by telling how to prepare their favorite vegetable. Minutes were read and approved.

Mrs. Leslie Honeycutt gave a talk on poultry feeding for steady egg production. Iced punch and cake were served the members. Mrs. Theo Burns and five children. The July meeting will be at the home of Mrs. O. B. Hodnett, July 27.

How to Save Time on Wash Days
Running the washing machine by clock is proving successful for many homemakers in Hope. These women have learned from experience that too short a washing period does not get clothes clean, and too long a time has disadvantages, too.

Home Demonstration Agent Lorraine Blackwood points out that running machinery too long adds unnecessary wear to clothes, wastes electricity, and, if the water is very soiled, may drive dirt into the fabric.

Recommended timetable for machine washing is:
Two to three minutes for silks, rayons and synthetics.
Five to ten minutes for slightly soiled cotton and linen.
Ten to 15 minutes for very soiled cotton.

If clothes are not clean in 15 minutes, they need hand rubbing of very soiled places or another washing in clean suds.

Wool needs very gentle treatment when wet to prevent shrinking. Therefore, wool should be washed in the shortest possible time, never over 5 minutes and less if possible. Very often it is safer to wash wool articles by hand.

To protect fine linen, hankies and other sheer or fine fabrics in the machine, put them in a loose cheese cloth bag and let them go through the washer and wringer in the bag.

Soap not rinsed out of clothes during laundering may show up in a brownish stain resembling iron rust when the clothes are ironed. To remove such stain, wash the clothes again in soap and water and rinse thoroughly, she points out. Bleaching in the sun after rinsing is sometimes helpful, too.

Sugar Ray Is Still King of Welterweights

Philadelphia, July 12 (AP)—Ray Robinson is still king of the welterweights but he would readily give up the crown for a shot at Jake LaMotta's middleweight title.

If there ever was any doubt whether Sugar Ray is the best of the welters, he erased that impression last night with a clean cut, unanimous decision over Cuba's hustling Kid Gavilan.

Robinson announced he was perfectly willing to continue fighting in the 147-pound division.

"But I would gladly give up my title for a change at the middleweight championship. I want to fight LaMotta again," he said.

He whipped LaMotta four out of five times before Jake won the 160-pound title.

Even Gavilan's staunchest supporters (and they were many) in the crowd of 27,805 at Municipal stadium couldn't find any fault with the decision.

Fair Enough

Washington, July 11 — Frank Murphy, the dynamic rug-cutter has written another opinion great value to the Communist treachery. Speaking for the majority of the Supreme court, the dancing barrister recently held that Harold Christoff, one of the prize specimens in the roster of the C. I. O., was innocent of perjury in denying on oath that he was a Communist because there was some oral testimony to the effect that there were fewer than a quorum present at times at a committee hearing when the deed was done. This opinion belonged in the same book with Murphy's emotional writ which held that Harry Bridges was not a Communist because the persons who proved that he was to the satisfaction of four inferior interviewers were patriotic, efficient, diligent, and unemitting.

Murphy is a strange cluck whose social conduct and reasoning in the position which he holds to the detriment of the court's old prestige, will be related, perhaps with embellishments, a little more necessary to make him comic, as long as the Supreme court is that way.

It is possible, of course, to argue that Murphy's reasoning is silly, that his intelligence is inadequate and that his moral quality is inappreciable to the good interests of the country. I have done that myself a few times with convincing logic and force. But whoever dwells upon these thoughts enjoys no price of presentation comparable to the alarm aroused by intelligent study of Murphy's wild papers. Nuts seems not to be just the right word. Wacky has amiable connotation which is out of place. You might amuse yourself gawping for the word to characterize an old man in a position of great service or moral danger to the United States, who shows off to apathetic servants, and goes dancing with young women in public places. I am stately mien.
A man of brooding moods and original manners who flinched in the presence of mobs and delivers Communists from the law though he has to put down the law.

Christoff was the boss-president of a local of the International Workers of the C. I. O. at the Allis-Chalmers plant which was the focus of the Communist war against the United States, waged on many domestic fronts, during the alliance between Stalin and Hitler. Allis-Chalmers was producing many machines that were vital to our own war preparations. The wisdom of our course into this inside of the Communist discussion is that we were in a jam and that Allis-Chalmers was trying to produce. The Communists were preventing production by organized terror. They promised a strike which would be called by the scientific work of Clark Sellers, the noted handwriting expert, was shown to have been fraudulent.

In March 1947, the house committee on education and labor faintly got around to the business of inspecting Christoff. As a Communist, he had long been a protégé of the Roosevelt regime,
enjoying privileges and immuni-ties above and beyond those of the loyal citizen.

Christoff swore that he was not a Communist. The government proved that he was. Therefore he was indicted for perjury and, in time, was convicted.

Benny Meyers, the major general who did a little petty thief-ing in procurement, had been convicted in like circumstances. But Meyers was not a Communist. He was a Jew. He had long been a protégé of the Roosevelt regime,
enjoying privileges and immuni-
ties above and beyond those of
the loyal citizen.

This is a strange combination.
Murphy and Douglas hate Frankfurter. Black is the old honorary barrister whose nomination to the court was in large measure due to that institution and was his sparring partner is Robert Jackson. But Jackson squared off against Black in this case whereas old Vreene and Douglas, who would enjoy a quarrel more than split in his eye, found themselves speaking through the same horn or trap, to wit, Murphy's. Rutledge seems to have no political character or funny habits. He and Reed, who took the other side, are just lawyers and might be regarded as eccentrics in this odd company.

I assure you it is not vulgarity in present usage to speak thus of this court. Its language is almost exactly by contrast with the shocking, yet appropriate, disrespect that one hears for the Supreme court of the United States as reformed by Roosevelt.

That is all there was to the majority opinion. There was some evidence, though only a few lines that there was no quorum when Christoff had under oath. Therefore the committee was not competent to require the truth.

Now we come to the minority decision on Christoff. The majority decision on Christoff was written by Vinson, Reed and Barton, another political neuter, concurring.

He said simply that congress had a right to make its own rules, which, of course, is undisputed. He said congress may also act according to a convenient practice without putting that practice into writing. This had been the cus-

Legion Batting Leaders

By George Dobson

Frank Hale continued to lead the hitters again this week, although he dropped off to a 500 batting average getting only one hit in the last two outings. Denzil Ross continued his hard hitting as he pulled in a 421 average this week after dropping to a 394 clip last week. Newton Secrest held onto his 400 batting average by pounding out two for five in Friday's game to his 400 for the week. Gary Anderson still showed the way in hits with 23 to his credit, and also led in the pitching department. Jack McClellendon went to the top against 2 defeats. Gilson Ross made his first appearance on the hill last Friday night as he blanked Malvern for five innings giving up only two hits and striking out 5 while walking none. Ross should add strength to the mound staff who has been weakened by the sore arm of David Hays.

Legion Gets Revenge Over Curtis 4-1

By George Dobson

Jack McClellendon's great pitching and Gary Anderson's timely hitting brought the Legion home last night as the Legion defeated the strong Curtis Millers 4-1 in a seven inning contest that was called due to an agreement between the two managers.

It was the three hit pitching of Jack McClellendon that gave him his sixth victory of the season, and Anderson's two singles that drove in three runs that accounted for the win. Bill McClellendon and Newton Secrest also added to the hitting, each getting two hits in three trips to the plate.

The locals opened the scoring in the bottom of the second off right hander Dale Barger when Newton Secrest singled into center field. Bill McClellendon followed with a ground ball through the base into center with Secrest taking second. Jack Bell was in easy out to first base, and Jack McClellendon picked on a 3-2 pitch to drive it into center field scoring Secrest. Bill McClellendon was out at the plate trying to score on the hit.

Score: Hope 3, Curtis 0.

Jack continued to let the visitors down in order giving up only one hit for the first four innings. In the bottom of the fourth, the locals tied the game when Secrest got his second hit. Bill McClellendon was called out on strikes. Jack Bell doubled against the right center fielder with Secrest holding third. Jack McClellendon was passed by Anderson who drove in a sharp single into center field scoring Secrest and Bell and ice the game. Score: Hope 3, Curtis 0.

It was the top of the sixth before the visitors could score.
Harold Baird got a double down the left field foul line, and scored when Bud Crawley singled into center field, but was out trying to go to second on the throw in. Vel-on McKnight ended the inning when he was robbed of a base hit by Delwin Ross who made a sparkling catch in right field after his shoe top. Score: Hope 3, Curtis 1.

Hope came back in the bottom of the sixth to count again when Bill McClellendon dropped a base leaguer into center field. He was moved to second when Jack Bell bunted. Jack McClellendon grounded out second to first with Bill moving to third, and Gary Anderson came through again driving in the inning fly by flying out to center. Score:
Hope 4, Curtis 1.

Jack got the side out in the top of the seventh with no double and packed away his sixth win of the season against two defeats. The victory gave the locals their 11th win against 8 defeats.

Wednesday night at Fair park,
the locals will take on the Red River Tomcats in what should prove to be interesting.

can for a long time. The record showed that there was a quorum when Christoff began lying on oath and there was no roll call but only the self-serving contentions of the Communists to support that some of the members stole away from their jobs. That being so, it could not be invoked to favor the point, however, and therefore waived his remedy if he deserved one.

New Jackson showed that the very law itself which gave the court the power to review the case was passed without a record vote and therefore without any guarantee, by Murphy's pro-Communist decision on Christoff. That was legally adopted. That being so, it could not be invoked to favor the Communist. And moreover, Jackson continued, the reason why Murphy failed to cite any prior decision to support this one was that all the previous cases were decided the other way.

But Jackson overlooked one important detail. The previous decisions were not Communists.

Guests Honored
With Barbecue Supper

Mrs. W. L. Britt complimented Capt. and Mrs. T. W. McDaniel Jr. and children Miss India and Duane of Ft. Worth, Tex. who are the house guests of Mrs. T. W. McDaniel Sr. with a barbecue chicken supper on the lawn of her home on Thursday evening. Guests included the honorees, Mrs. E. DeLaughter, Mrs. C. A. Haynie, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Langley, Johnny and Rosanna Langley, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryson, Ed and Mary Beth Bryson, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace McKenzie.

Mrs. Lavender Entertains
With Bridge Party

Colorful arrangements of summer flowers set the scene for an afternoon bridge party given by Mrs. J. Leland Lavender at her home on Thursday afternoon. The rooms were arranged for three tables of players with the high score prize being won by Miss Mildred Bemis.

Mrs. Lavender served a delicious salad course to her guests who were: Miss Bemis, Mrs. Allen Gee, Jr., Mrs. Charles Willis, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Thomas Dewoody, Miss Sue Jones, Miss Kathleen Wooley, Miss Nona Bagle, Miss Bernice Daniel, Mrs.

Jeb Wyllie and Mrs. Hubert Barksdale.

47 Bridge Club Meets
In McMahon Home

Mrs. J. V. McMahon was hostess to the members of the 47 Bridge club at her home on E. Main Street on Thursday afternoon. The room arranged for two tables of players was colorful with arrangements of crepe myrtle and zinnias placed at vantage points.

Mrs. Tilman Worthington won the high score favor. Mrs. Archie Johnson was a guest of the club. Members present were: Mrs. Worthington, Mrs. Paul Buchanan, Mrs. Bob Reynolds, Mrs. Ben Whitaker, Mrs. Charlie Scott, Mrs. Jack Robey and Mrs. E. R. Ward. A delicious sandwich plate was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Guss McCaskill
Klwanis Queen

Mrs. Guss McCaskill was appointed Queen for July by the Prescott club at their meeting last Thursday night at Broadway Hotel. She was the guest of the club at their dinner meeting and was presented with a beautiful orchid. Mr. McCaskill is a member of the board of directors and a charter member of the club.

Miss Bobby Box also was a guest and played dinner music and rendered a special musical number. She was presented with a corsage of pink carnations. J. C. Craig, who has resigned as secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, made his farewell speech to the members. He has been very active in all Klwanis club projects and a valuable club member during his two year's residence here.

The chamber of commerce announced that Glen Holler, a reporter for the Texarkana Gazette was a visitor in Prescott, July 5. Mr. Holler was here gathering information on Prescott and Nevada county for a special edition of his paper which will be published in August covering the Four States area in honor of the Annual Four States fair which will be held in Texarkana this Fall. Mr. Holler was greatly interested in the joint celebration of the 13th annual Nevada County fair and the Diamond Jubilee activities which are being planned at this time in honor of Prescott 75th anniversary. Everyone is urged to remember the publication of this special edition and to tell their friends of the recognition that Prescott and Nevada county will receive.

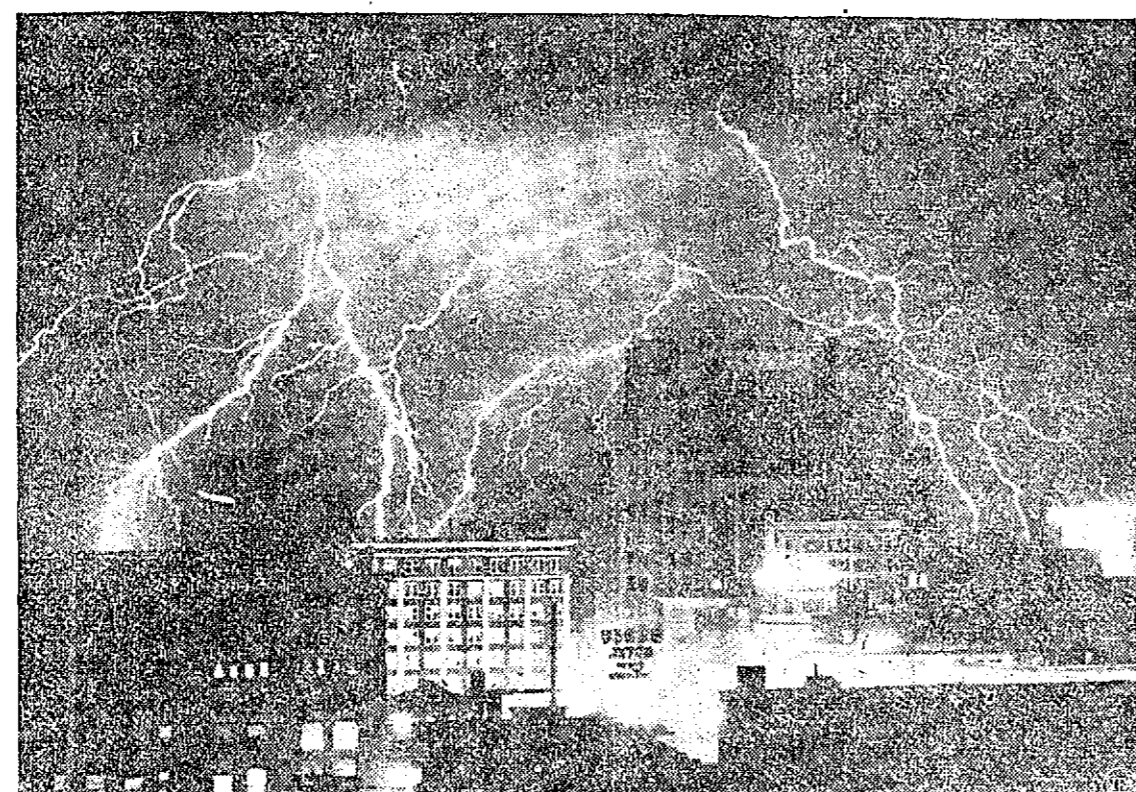

Alfred Long of Little Rock was the Friday night guest of Mrs. B. C. Stivers and Jack Stivers.

Mrs. Electa Wells spent a part of last week in Hot Springs as the guest of Mrs. Ed Cantley and SOMETHING'S IN THE AIR—A heavy electrical storm following a day of near-record temperatures set up this impressive display of lightning over Denver, Colo., as the Rocky Mountains echoed back the violent crashes of thunder.

Britain Hopes To End Trouble Financially

London, July 11 (A) — Britain hopes to find a solution to her dollar problem by September.

That is the upshot of a three-day, closed-door conference here between United States Treasury Secretary John Snyder, British Economic Chief Sir Stafford Cripps and Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott.

Before Snyder left for Brussels on the next stage of his European tour, the three issued a joint communique. It promised fact-finding discussions right away and more ministerial talks in Washington in September.

"The aim," it said, "must be the achievement of a pattern of world trade in which dollar and non-dollar countries can operate together within one single multi-lateral system."

The men met at the end of a week which saw Cripps tell Britain her dollar and gold reserves had sunk almost $400,000,000 below the $2,000,000,000 danger line, and order a three-month moratorium on all but urgent dollar purchases.

The communique emphasized that "remedies for Britain's plight" other than financial assistance such as that provided by the United States and Canada must be explored.

No suggestion was made that sterling be devalued, the statement said. Butting the value of the pound in order to make British goods cheaper in terms of dollars has been widely recommended in the U. S. to help Britain out of her plight.

The whole British Commonwealth will sit its financial policies in a conference starting here Wednesday.

Finance ministers of the seven dominions — Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan and Ceylon — will meet with Cripps.

Britain's own policies will come under the scrutiny of parliament in a debate starting Thursday in the house of commons.

Negro, Lawyer Free Following Violence Threats

Dallas, July 11 (A) — A white lawyer and a Negro accused of threatening to kill each other both were free today.

The lawyer, Noah Roark, made his threat in court. He told the court he'd post bond for the Negro for the pleasure of killing him.

The incident occurred during a habeas corpus hearing for Ozzie Watson, 31, a Negro charged with threatening to kill Roark.

Roark told County Judge Ben B. Brown, "I'm going to kill him (Watson) if I ever get a chance. As a matter of fact, I'll post his bond for the pleasure of doing it."

This brought a temporary arrest for Roark, but he was freed after promising not to carry out the threat.

Watson was originally charged with a "threat to kill" the attorney and assault on his wife after Roark and Watson's cars were in a minor collision. Watson was fined $2,000 and sentenced to two years on the former, formal charge by Judge Brown. Brown reversed that ruling later, admitting he had commented that if he had been in Roark's shoes he would have killed the Negro.

The judge had agreed and Watson went free on $10,000 bond.

Another Large Plane Gets Back Safely

New York, July 11 — (UPI) — The Pan-Am plane, a four-engine strato-cruiser, "Flying Cloud", with 54 persons aboard, developed engine trouble yesterday and was forced to return 200 miles to New York — the third such incident in four days.

The company announced that the double-decker airliner returned to Idlewild airport nearly two hours after taking off on a flight for Bermuda.

A spokesman said the pilot turned back because the turbo-supercharger on engine No. 1 was not functioning, thus preventing the plane from gaining its normal cruising level of 14,000 feet.

The 44 passengers aboard the plane continued their trip to Bermuda last night aboard a Pan-American DC-4.

"The plane could have continued to Bermuda," a company spokesman said, "but the pilot turned back because of passenger comfort — the trip would have been rougher at a lower altitude — and convenience in repairing."

Last Thursday the company's strato-cruiser "America" had to return 600 miles to Shannon, Ireland, when an engine caught fire. On Friday, the strato-cruiser "Seven Seas" was forced to turn back to Idlewild from a flight to Europe after developing a "rough" engine.

Resources
It is estimated that there is enough coal in the United States to last 2000 years, and enough oil to last a century. There probably is enough motor fuel to supply all needs for at least 2000 years.
